REFLECTION

“Discite a me, quia mitis sum et humilis corde - Learn of Me” - from this state of voluntary abasement and loneliness to which I am reduced without a sign of impatience - “I am meek and humble of heart.”

What a mystery! What a depth of abasement! The Omnipotent, the Infinite Wisdom is nothing more in the eyes and estimation of men than a little infant - a type of weakness and ignorance - despised by the world, laid on a little hay in a cave between two animals, as if He were unworthy of a having a place among the children of men.

Behold, O my soul, to what an excess of humiliation a God made man has reduced Himself, to teach thee to humble thyself, and bear patiently wounding remarks and contempt, no matter from whence it comes. What gratitude oughtest to show Him!

“Christus natus est nobis: venite, adoremus - Jesus is born for us; come let us adore Him!”
